Vienna, July 31.—Almost seven days to the hour after Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss died, two Nazis accused of complicity in killing him were hanged in the prison yard today.

The official account of their execution declared that the Nazis died with the shout "Heil Hitler" on their lips. One, Franz Holzweber, convicted of high treason as the leader of the putsch in which Dollfuss died, also shouted "I die for Germany" the official account stated.

Holzweber was followed on the gallows by Otto Planetta, former army staff sergeant, who said he killed Dollfuss without intending to do so and begged forgiveness in court.

Holzweber and Planetta were the first Nazis to be hanged in Austria, despite numerous acts of terrorism charged against them before they broke into civil war after the putsch and the killing of Dollfuss last Wednesday.

There were two of the 144 men arrested after the raid on the federal chancellery who were refused a promised safe transit to Germany because Dollfuss was killed.

Bombing Outrages
New bombing outrages broke out as the two went on trial before a court martial yesterday and as the armed revolt in the southern provinces was all but wiped out.

At the same time the government of Kurt von Schuschnigg, Dollfuss' successor, took stern measures to suppress Nazis, ordering that those who engaged in rebellion be placed in concentration camps at hard labor. Their property is to be confiscated.

Holzweber and Planetta were hanged after the prescribed three hours following their conviction by the court martial.

Their counsel made a plea for clemency, which was rejected by President Miklas.

Both men were convicted of high treason. In the case of Planetta the charge of killing Dollfuss also was sustained.

The men had faced the court calmly. The official statement regarding the execution, which was witnessed by designated government officials, reported their defiance continued to the end.

The statement said the pro-German cries of the two men came after the death warrant was read to each as he stood on the gallows.

Before he died Planetta, who was a Catholic, received absolution from a priest, and Holzweber, a Protestant, knelt in prayer with his pastor.

Holzweber was allowed a farewell moment with his wife, and Planetta said goodbye to his wife, sister and a sister-in-law.

The two men then were dressed in white, summer prison suits and taken to the gallows. It required 13 minutes for the hangman's rope to strangle Holzweber, and Planetta's heart stopped beating after 11 minutes.

TWO ESCAPED CONVICTS ARE RECAPTURED

Mexico, Mo., Mayor Opens Fire On Pair In Car

Mexico, Mo., July 31.—(AP)—Two escaped Indiana convicts were captured here today after one of them had been wounded when he disarmed one of the arresting officers and attempted to shoot it out.

The convicts, Joe Burnett, 27, and William C. Jay, 45, escaped from the Indiana State prison at Michigan City last Saturday, with three other prisoners.

Burnett was shot in the chest, arm and leg by W. A. Debo, Mayor and Deputy Sheriff, after the convicts had disarmed Robert Baker, city marshal. Burnett's wounds were not considered serious.

Acting upon a tip from Columbia, where the men stayed last night, Debo and Baker, approached a suspicious-looking automobile at the High School grounds.

As Baker reached the car, he was disarmed by the escaped convicts. Debo "covered" the men from some distance back and shot Burnett when the latter attempted to fire at the marshal with Baker's gun. Debo fired several times.

Debo tonight said he believed he owed his life to the fact that Baker's revolver contained three empty chambers, and that he had time to wound Burnett before the convict clicked the hammer on the fourth shell.

The three men who escaped with Jay and Burnett still were at liberty tonight. They were Maurice O'Flaherty, 25, believed to have been the leader of the break, Kenneth Rogers, 22, and Louis Craig, 19, all of whom were convicted on robbery charges.

Officers here quoted the men as saying they left their companions shortly after leaving the prison, then stole an automobile and headed west across Illinois for Missouri. They crossed the Mississippi River at Alton, Ill. They told officers they stole automobile license plates at Columbia last night.

Evansville, Ind., July 31.—(AP)—Kenneth Rogers, 22, one of five prisoners who escaped from the Indiana state prison Saturday, and a companion believed to be Maurice O'Flaherty, 25, another of the convicts, are on their way north after a daring sortie into this country last night, authorities said tonight.

Total Growth.
A year later, at the end of March, 1934, this total had grown to $23,559.

These figures do not include those employed in the legislative, judicial or military branches of the government. Members of Congress have found work for hundreds more of their constituents.

Two thousand additional workers were taken into the executive service in June. Indications are several hundred more will find jobs during July and August with the organization of the Federal Housing Corporation, the new communications commission, expansion of drought relief activities and other emergency operations.

The Public Works Administration, Tennessee Valley Authority, the Home Owners Loan Corporation, Agriculture Department, and emergency conservation work have employed the bulk of the newcomers in to government service.

Most of the positions are being filled outside of civil service. A number of agencies, however, have set up strict standards to which prospective employees are required to conform. The Civil Service Commission said today this was especially true of the Public Works Administration which now has a total of 4,055 employed in administering the $3,800,000,000 appropriated by Congress to help bring recovery.

GUARDSMEN ARE WITHDRAWN FROM KOHLEH VILLAGE

350 Infantry Men Evacuate
While 250 Remain on Duty

Kohle, Wis., July 31.—(AP)—Kohle village, where 600 national guardsmen have been stationed to prevent repetition of Friday night's bloody rioting, was evacuated today by 350 infantrymen as funeral services, sponsored by organized labor, were held in nearby Sheboygan for Lee Wakefield, one of the two killed in the battle between pickets and special village deputy marshals.

Two hundred and fifty members of the 195th Cavalry, stationed in Milwaukee, remained in the village, however.

Four federal strike mediators, who originally ceased their negotiations last night with the announcement "some progress" had been made and that they would resume conferences within a few days, asked that guardsmen be retained to appease the fears of both sides.

Five thousand mourners crowded Moose Park in Sheboygan for Wakefield's service, in which Henry Ohl, Jr., president of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor, eulogized the 28-year-old shoemaker as having "died for an ideal—that of economic justice for his fellow workers."

In the cortege were some 2,500 marchers, most of them workmen, paced by some of the 45 persons shot and otherwise injured in Friday night's battle. At the suggestion of Mayor William Sonnenburg many Sheboygan business houses closed for the day.

VOTE TRUE BILLS
Chicago, July 31.—(AP)—The Cook county grand jury today was reported to have voted true bills charging larceny against two men and two women as the result of the $87,000 jewel robbery from Mrs. Adolph Zukor, wife of the motion picture magnate.

Those named were Joseph Weinberg, 33, his wife, Ella, 26, Robert Vestal, 29, and his wife, Helen, 30. Police claimed to have found the jewels in possession of Weinberg and Vestal.

The jewels were taken by a sneak thief as Mrs. Zukor and her maid slept in a loop hotel several weeks ago.

NAMED MARSHAL
East St. Louis, Ill., July 31.—(AP)—Jerry Baxter, for 13 years a peace officer here, today was named deputy United States marshal, effective September 1. The appointment was made by marshal William Ryan of Danville. Baxter will succeed R. O. Shepherd.

MAN CHARGED WITH MURDER
Woodland, Calif., July 31.—(AP)—After witnesses related that Judson Duke, a city inspector of San Leandro, had threatened to shoot, tar and feather Lamar Hollingshead, 23, Berkeley student poet, a coroner's jury today returned a verdict charging Duke with the murder of Hollingshead. The accused man's preliminary hearing was set for Aug. 22.

William Breesen, a harvest worker, testified about the alleged threats made by Duke, who has told authorities he was endeavoring to break up an affair between his wife, a writer of verse, and the young poet.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY
Chicago, July 31.—(AP)—Lawrence Strufe, alias Thomas "Bozo" McMahon, 40, paroled convict and former cell mate of John Dillinger, today was turned over to police of suburban Blue Island for prosecution on a charge of a $150 robbery at a meat market. He was arrested Saturday as police started a drive against allies of the slain gangster. Strufe was paroled from the Michigan City penitentiary two months ago after serving a term for robbery.

New Orleans City Officials Appeal to Washington For Aid as Guardsmen Mobilize

Near Death

MINNEAPOLIS TRUCK DRIVERS DEFY MILITIA

Set Out To Halt All Truck Movement In City

Minneapolis, July 31.—(AP)—Unrest bubbled with renewed intensity in the truck drivers strike tonight as troops, armed for action, were ready to quell any possible outbreaks of violence by mobilizing strikers.

"Anyone who defies military rule must suffer the consequences," said adjutant general E. A. Walsh after strikers who had defied the guard by setting out to stop all truck movement had beaten two drivers and frightened a third from his vehicle. One of the trucks was dumped.

The disturbances followed the death of a citizen when a troop car, answering a call collided with his automobile.

Publicly announcing Floyd B. Olson, strike leaders issued a statement declaring the military "has operated and is operating exclusively in the interests of the employers and against the men who are fighting for a living wage."

The governor essayed the role of peacemaker in a controversial picture of military rule marked by the death of a citizen—the second since the outbreak July 16.

No arrests were made by national guardsmen, though troop cars were on the run continually chasing down reported picketing and stopping of trucks. It was on one such run that Carl Wallin, driver of a sedan, was killed when troopers ran through a traffic signal.

Alfred Israelson, 25, riding with Wallin, was injured, probably fatally. Three guardsmen suffered minor injuries.

Some 7,500 trucks moved unimpeded through the day in which statements, appeals and ultimatums were issued from every source save the mediators, the Rev. Francis Haas and E. H. Dunnigan. They held their own counsel.

Strikers marshaled their forces for a concentrated effort Grant Dunne said would be made tomorrow morning to stop all truck movements despite operating permits from the military. A similar threat of violence was voiced by leaders last night but no disorder occurred today.

This decision was reached after Gov. Olson refused to accede to strikers' demands for a complete halting of all trucks for 48 hours to enable revision of the permit system and thereby clamp down what they termed "chiselers' operators."

An effort to stop a loaded truck July 30 caused injuries to 68 persons, most of them shot by police guns. One later died.

The governor again stepped into the controversy with a statement declaring the issue to be one of either "a fair or unfair wage scale for persons employed which represents the struggle between recovery and the chiselers."

AGED PRINCETON JANITOR DIES
Princeton, N. J., July 31.—(AP)—They'll be burying "St. Peter" tomorrow, and thousands of Princeton men throughout the world will be mourning.

Vital statistics may list his name as Charles Kirkpatrick, and give his age as 72, but he's "St. Peter" to every Princeton man since 1902.

Thirty odd years ago Kirkpatrick was appointed janitor of the university chapel. In those days chapel attendance was compulsory and Kirkpatrick was entrusted with the duty of locking the chapel door on late comers as soon as the bell stopped tolling.

So they called him "St. Peter" and forgot he had another name. He kept the position until compulsory chapel was abandoned in 1928.

Life wasn't so full for the campus saint thereafter. Too old for active work, he was given charge of the academic robes worn by college officials on formal occasions. In 1932 he was retired on pension.

He died Sunday from pneumonia at his home in Penns Neck.

New Orleans, July 31.—(AP)—Hundreds of National Guardsmen were mobilized at Jackson Barracks, south of the city late today, as city administration leaders appealed to Washington for aid in lifting the iron hand of United States Senator Huey P. Long from the city of New Orleans, engaged in a bitter factional fight with the Louisiana political dictator.

Almost simultaneously with city appeals to federal authorities, based on charges that the militia had been illegally used by the state administration, under dominance of Senator Long, in the seizure of the city voter registration office, a general mobilization of all companies of the New Orleans National Guard got underway.

Twelve companies, consisting of approximately 750 men, and including infantry, artillery and cavalry, were called to the barracks, militia headquarters.

No information was immediately available on what use would be made of the augmented force.

After breaking into the registrar of voters' office last night, Louisiana militiamen continued to hold the office by force of arms during the day.

The appeal to Washington was announced by Mayor T. Semmes Walmesley, bitter political foe of Gov. O. K. Allen and Senator Long. He termed the governor's declaration of partial martial law illegal and asked Adjutant-General James F. McKinley of the U. S. army to investigate the use of the militia in a factional political dispute.

At the same time, two Walmesley-endorsed candidates for the two New Orleans congressional seats at stake in the approaching September primary requested Speaker of the House Rainey to make an inquiry into conditions attending the campaign, charging the Long machine with attempting "to steal two seats in the United States Congress."

Walmesley charged "it is apparent they want to scratch names from the registration books under the protection of the militia."

Defiance hurled back and forth between the two rival political camps of Mayor Walmesley and Senator Long, the one entrenched in a police-filled city hall and the other headquartered near the top floor of the Hotel Roosevelt, surrounded by private bodyguards.

From Long's hotel headquarters, Gov. Allen, leader in the Long organization, who recently threatened ouster, proceedings against Mayor Walmesley, District Attorney Eugene Stanley and Chief of Police George Rye of New Orleans after charging them with countenancing "vice and debauchery" in the city, sent out a cryptic "warning" statement which read:

"Tell the world that New Orleans is now to be known as the center of learning and science, the gateway to all continents; the center of the greatest highway, railway and waterway development in the world; and that the reign of vice and crime is a thing of the past."

"Let no one try to fraud the warning I have given."

Tonight, both Long and Walmesley took to the radio to air their differences.

Governor Allen's "warning" followed a gesture of defiance on the part of the city in turning to the civil courts to prevent the functioning of a new police board for New Orleans, provided for in a bill pushed through the recent legislature by Senator Long. The bill was shaped to take police supervision away from Mayor Walmesley by placing it in the hands of a board of seven, named by seven civic organizations.

REXFORD TUGWELL ATTACKS CRITICS OF FARM PROGRAM

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—Rexford G. Tugwell, undersecretary of agriculture, asserted tonight there was "something both infantile, obscene and wicked" in the charges, with which reactionary obscurantists have seized upon the drought in attacking the administration's farm program.

In a radio address, Tugwell said that without the new deal's millions to aid agriculture and drought victims and its measures to provide against future catastrophes, "we should face famine and political revolution in the farm states and food riots in the cities."

Describing the farm administration's efforts to adjust production and consumption, Tugwell whose address was released through the Democratic National Committee, said:

"I know that I am speaking for the Department of Agriculture when I say that it was only with the greatest reluctance that we temporarily called a halt to that unchecked, gigantic and uneconomic abundance which is the first law of nature, but we felt that with industrial America controlling its production in order to maintain profitable prices with absolute indifference to the fate of the millions who depend on industry for a livelihood, agricultural America could not survive without corresponding measures of readjustment and self-control."

PLUNGE TO DEATH
Riverside, Calif., July 31.—(AP)—Three men plunged to death at the bottom of a shaft in the Val Verde tunnel of the Metropolitan Water District aqueduct late today.

The victims were: James Davis, 32, Riverside; Sam Brown, 42, Ferris, Calif.; and Lincoln Wells, 29, Los Angeles.

They fell nearly 80 feet in a muck bucket. The cable lifting the bucket to the earth's surface high above the tunnel ceiling snapped when the bucket was within a few feet of the top.

RIVER STAGE LOW
Winona, Minn., July 31.—(AP)—The Mississippi river reached a new all time low here today when a stage of 2.5 feet below the low water mark of 1864 was reached. The previous low was 2.48 below the low water, set Sept. 1 last year. Sandbars never before seen are visible and persons can walk across the channel in many places.

SAMUEL INSULL READY TO TELL ALL IS CLAIM

Former Utility Head Seeks Separate Trial

Chicago, July 31.—(AP)—Samuel Insull was ready to tell all today, but despite his assumption of full responsibility for the conduct of corporation securities the government gave a cold reception to his appeal for a separate trial.

In a nine page petition filed with the district court, Insull stated his objection to being tried with 16 co-defendants on charges of using the mails to defraud. They ranged from a fear that his case would be prejudiced by the admission of evidence which would not be admissible against him alone to another fear that the circumstances surrounding his European exile would be prejudicial to the other defendants.

Dwight H. Green, district attorney, said the government would oppose the petition.

Promises Disclosure.
Promising "full and frank" disclosure of all his business operations, Insull asserted that he was willing to accept full responsibility for his acts and those of his associates who acted upon his advice. He declared, however, that because of his infirmities he feared a lengthy trial would endanger his life.

The 74 years old defendant, in the petition presented by Floyd E. Thompson, his attorney, said he would be hindered in his defense if the record were cluttered up with evidence relating to the other directors of corporation securities who were indicted with him.

Insull protested that because of his age and physical condition, the strain of two months of preparation and possibly four months of trial would make it impossible for him to present his defense properly.

Eight of the defendants, including his son, Samuel, Jr., were guided by him in all matters of general policy, the elder Insull said. The other eight, he continued, were identified with him only incidentally in serving the various Insull corporations.

"I am convinced that the interests of justice will best be served by a full and frank disclosure of all the facts and details pertaining to my extensive business operations," the petition read. "These facts and details I stand ready to reveal to the fullest extent as soon as given the opportunity to testify at my trial."

The hearing on the petition probably will be held at the start of the trial, scheduled for September 18.

The Wrong Door

Because he opened the wrong door, Chancellor Dollfus of Austria lost his life. As the Nazi assassins burst into the Congress Hall, where he had been guided by a servant, Dollfus was ready to leave thru a door that would have led into a secret passage. He reached for the handle, but his servant was trying to get him to turn to the right door.

As the Nazis saw their prize about to escape, they fired, and the Chancellor fell. Had he reached the right door in the first place, he might have escaped. The right door led into the presidential apartments, from which a secret passage led to the street. The servant knew this and was guiding Dollfus out of the building.

Because the confused and frightened Chancellor failed to open the right door, he lost his life. Austria was plunged into civil war. Italian troop movements occurred, and bitter words of accusation were exchanged by Italian and German press. Acting Premier Stanley Baldwin says war is not near, but recommends plans for a larger British navy, plans which the House of Commons adopted.

From the scaffold the assassins of Dollfus cry "Hell Hitler" and the world begins to believe that the German dictator must have had something to do with the Austrian "putch." Mussolini has shown by his actions that he has expected as much from the first. If this sort of thing continues, Europe will soon wish the late Chancellor Dollfus had known where he was going and had opened the right door.

The Louisiana Mess

Citizens of the state of Louisiana have to pinch themselves to be sure they have not been transported to some West Indian island or Central American republic, with troops raiding the New Orleans city hall the day before election. Senator Huey Long, who is said to control the Governor, had the troops called to get possession of the election registration sheets.

Mayor Wainwright of New Orleans, bitter enemy of Long says the other faction wants to scratch names from the registration records. Whatever Long and his gang wanted to do, they took a most un-American way of doing it. The calling out of the militia on any sort of pretext is becoming altogether too frequent for the safety of our liberties.

When it is possible for a politician to have the soldiers raid a government building to get some election documents, supposed to be sacred to judges and clerks of election, it is about time Americans awakened to a real danger. If Long can get by with such a thing in Louisiana, some other politician might easily repeat the performance in Illinois or any other of the 48 sovereign commonwealths of this republic.

Of course there may be bad faith on both sides in the Louisiana wrangle, but even so, the use of soldiers to gain political ends takes on the appearance of petty tactics of the Spanish republics, where people may be excused because of lack of enlightenment.

Strike Damage

Everyone will agree that the strike is a cumbersome method of settling labor disputes. It has sometimes brought results, but the losses are in most cases greater than the gains. During the present year this has proved more true than ever.

The recently settled Longshoremen's strike in San Francisco cost eight lives and a loss of $200,000,000 to business and labor. It is estimated that this far during 1934 American labor has lost 15,000,000 man-days of work, which when reckoned in wages, means a loss of perhaps $50,000,000 or more. Meanwhile France reports only 957 persons on strike over the entire country.

Arbitration is perhaps the most practical method of settling disputes. While it is in progress, workmen can continue at their jobs and wages can keep flowing into their pay envelopes. The desire for arbitration should be mutual on the part of employer and employee, for in a strike, both sides usually lose equal amounts. If anything, the employer is the heavier loser.

Strike losses cannot be recovered. The days of idleness cannot be recovered in useful work. The dollars lost in business and wages will not return. Peaceful arbitration does away with all this loss and keeps the business wheels running while agreements are being formulated.

Is Heat Increasing?

Those of us who have endured temperatures written in three figures for days at a time would say emphatically that heat is on the increase. But science is a bit more careful and prefers to scan weather records.

The temperature statistics for fifty years and from several weather stations have been carefully culled. The mean temperatures for this long period and for the years 1921 to 1930 have been compared, and now science is ready to say that it may be getting hotter or we may be going thru a cycle, which is about as far as the weather men will go.

The mean temperature for the ten-year period is greater by 6 to 13 degrees over the mean temperature for the half-century period. The 13 increase is mainly in the middle west and west, and the minimum increase is in the east.

But science has not yet compared the records for 1934; that may change the story. We do know that drought and heat are rapidly turning the middle west into a desert, and that since 1930, the heat has been several degrees greater than for the decade preceding. We have heard it rumored that still higher temperatures are in store for us yet this summer, perhaps 135 degrees. If this happens, science will have to do some research work. If there are any scientists or other persons left alive.

Plant More Trees

Many big trees were destroyed by the recent tornado that tore thru this city. To be sure, some of the trees were rotten and were easy prey for the wind; but they were still alive and served for shade. Outwardly they showed little or no evidence of inward decay.

Still other trees that went down or lost their tops were sound. Jacksonville could ill afford their loss. It is now up to the citizens to plant new trees in their places in order that shade may be restored. It is probable that assistance in the work of tree planting could be secured from the government. Some inquiry along this line should be made at once. Why couldn't Jacksonville have a CCC camp for awhile to put its trees in order?

It is not only necessary to plant new trees, but also to treat those that are left so that they will live and continue in service for both shade and beauty. Plans for this work have been suggested, but not much has been done thus far. Perhaps a government conservation camp could be of service in this matter also. This county was once offered such a camp, but no work could be found for the men, at least not enough to warrant its establishment. Now, however, there is a real need for new trees and tree surgery, and a camp might perform valuable service.

Side Lights

A pull doesn't seem to get folks anywhere in Austria, but a "putch" brings surprising results.

A local citizen tells us he has an invitation to join a nudist colony. And if it gets hot like it was, we'll go along.

It is now proposed that Uncle Sam buy surplus cheese. Maybe all the mice have applied for relief.

A rumor there are pirates on Lake Michigan. Just some Chicago gangsters out for a boat ride.

German storm troops are back on duty. Yes, Fritz, we had a storm, too; but we're not bragging about it.

We wonder sometimes whether people want true liberty, or only the privilege of doing as they please.

PLACE LOCAL MAN IN CHARGE OF NEW WORK

Paul L. Sheppard, who spent the week-end visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sheppard, 1201 South East street, has been placed in charge of experimental work on rubberized hair, a new product of Armour & Co. The material is used as seat backing and takes the place of the old type coil spring. It has been used successfully by the Pullman firm in the seats of its new streamline streetcars and trains.

The New Deal in Washington

Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington, July 31.—The weekly Blue Eagle is now in its seventh issue, has gained a circulation of 65,000, and long ago jumped from four tabloid-size pages to eight.

This NRA house organ is so well edited as to offer NRA critics little chance for ridicule—which is too bad, because I would like to poke a little fun at it myself.

The most extraordinary thing about "The Blue Eagle"—as it's called, of course—is that it never mentions the name of Gen. Hugh Johnson. Or of anybody else in NRA.

Editor Bill Lawson decided it wouldn't quite do to play up Johnson's name and nobody else's and that to throw the sheets open to other NRA prima donnas would invite so much jealousy and accusation of personal publicity promotion as to interfere seriously with a fellow trying to get out a newspaper.

Of course a prominent business man or trade association executive doesn't have much trouble crashing "The Blue Eagle." Just let him throw an armful of posies at NRA and its effect on his industry and he'll be quoted with his name and correct middle initial.

The weekly is sent free to all code authorities. NRA state officials, trade associations, and persons who ask for it. By attempting to publish all the official, authentic NRA dope, it saves a great pile of correspondence. Texts of all executive and administrative orders, summaries of interpretations—including those affecting the cardstock bedspread industry—are carried, with explanations of the most important ones.

Also there are hearing schedules, business charts, lists of new code authority members, pleasant little business items about payroll increases, price increases and reductions, personal testimonials and snappy little news notes such as how the dress code people have distributed 50,000,000 NRA labels.

Originally, "Blue Eagle" carried cartoons portraying the Blue Eagle as the king of birds, inspirational editorials, and columns of epigrams from "the Administrator." But those have been cut out. While other papers were screaming the Dollfus assassination, the big Page One "Blue Eagle" scoop, as headlined, was:

"NRA Plan Not Theoretical"

Keep Cool With Salt
Sitting at lunch across from Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming and Assistant Surgeon General R. C. Williams, everybody with coats off. I asked what the U. S. Public Health Service was recommended to beat the heat.

"Keep cool!" cracked Cumming. Then they suggested extra doses of salt, based on the fact that perspiration draws salt from the system.

In recent experiments, extra salt was added to the diets of furnace stokers and the stokers felt a lot more comfortable.

Locals and Personals
William J. Woolston, the young NRA Labor Advisory Board staff member who appeared at work wearing shorts and was ordered to change back to pants, happens to be a millionaire from Philadelphia. The shorts were handsome and expensive.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Assistant Secretary R. Walton Moore are called "Judge" by each other and their friends. Hull used to be one. Business improvement note: Exactly 61,160 persons went up in the Washington Monument last month, of whom 5,912 walked. The Federal Power Policy Commission met the other day and found a woman in one of its seven chairs of the first time. Miss Mae Schmitt was there. Acting Commissioner of Registration, Dr. Elwood Mead, being off on vacation. Notice posted in all NRA offices: "In order to make the NRA outings, entertainments, etc., more lively and make the Blue Eagle fly higher on special occasions a band will be formed. All who desire to join (men and women) please send in name and kind of instrument played to."

Apple Trees Suffer Serious Damage in Calhoun and Jersey

Jerseyville, July 31.—The loss of forest and fruit trees in this section of Illinois from the drought is becoming apparent as the long hoped for rain continues to dodge the district.

Trees in forests and orchards are dying in Jersey county at an ever increasing rate as the drought holds on. In Calhoun county the situation is much worse and north in Pike county the condition is extreme in certain localities.

On the bluffs of Calhoun county, trees that have withstood the storms of more than ten decades are dying of thirst. Their leaves have withered and fallen and their gnarled arms stand against the sun burned sky like giant specters.

Apple trees are dying in Calhoun orchards at an alarming rate. The nature of the soil renders the destruction more widespread than in Jersey. The soil of Calhoun orchards in many localities is shallow and under laid with a strata of gravel.

"I saw one orchard in a flat," stated Charles Ringhausen who had just returned from Calhoun county Saturday evening. "And I believe that the orchard is going to be a total loss. It is not so old an orchard and from its position in the flat land one would believe that it had a better chance to survive the present emergency than the orchards on the bluffs and hills."

"It is not the case in this particular instance for the orchard is now almost a loss. The top soil apparently is underlaid with a strata of gravel."

Orchard men in Calhoun and Jersey counties state that their prospects have been reduced greatly by the recent heat wave. The apples in many cases have simply based on the trees and any idea of marketing them has been abandoned. "The orchardist of this locality is going to need governmental aid if he is to carry on and dodge bankruptcy," one apple grower stated in discussing the present situation.

"Apple orchards in Jersey county are standing the drought better than those in Calhoun county," Charles Ringhausen stated. "The weaker trees are dying first, but many of the stronger ones are beginning to show evidence of damage."

The Ringhausen Brothers have more than 1,000 acres of producing orchards in Jersey and Calhoun counties.

Fighting to save a prospective crop of 40,000 bushels of Jonathan apples, Harry Ringhausen and other members of the group expressed fears Saturday evening that the attempt to irrigate the orchard might not be a success, unless speedy relief from natural sources is received.

Charles Ringhausen of Jerseyville visited the orchard in Calhoun county Saturday afternoon to inspect operations. Water for irrigating the orchard is being pumped from the river a distance of three miles and then distributed by pipes and hose through the 130-acre tract of trees.

The Harry Ringhausen farm comprises 160 acres of the best apple growing land in Calhoun county and of this amount 130 acres is in producing orchard.

"A large portion of the 130 acres is devoted to the production of Jonathan," stated Charles Ringhausen. "A forty thousand bushel crop is in prospect if sufficient moisture can be obtained to carry the apples to maturity."

Determined to save his orchard and growing crop, Harry Ringhausen laid a three mile pipe line to the river and began pumping water to his trees. The pipe is a two and a half inch affair.

The effort at irrigation is the first one of its kind in the apple growing region of Calhoun and Jersey counties, being studied by other orchard men of both that county and Jersey.

Announce Rules for Picnic, Fair Stands

With picnics and fairs getting under way thruout Illinois, Supt. Horace I. Leppman of the state Division of Poods and Dairies has issued rules and regulations for the sanitary conduct of food stands and eating houses on fair and picnic grounds. It is the purpose of the state to enforce these rules thru careful inspection and the public will thus be assured of good wholesome food, prepared under healthful conditions. The rules follow:

(1) Barbecue roasters shall be so constructed that the meat in process of cooking shall be at all times protected from dirt, dust, flies, or any other source of contamination. This may be done by enclosing the furnace in wood, brick, metal or glass enclosure so constructed as to afford such protection as to guarantee the product when cooked to be clean and wholesome. In locations free from dust, the top and front may be constructed of screen wire so as to keep away bugs and flies.

The above rule to apply to all barbecue stands, whether found in cities, villages or at the roadside, or upon any picnic ground or county or state fairground.

(2) All meat or fish whether to be served alone or in sandwiches, together with any gravy or sauce to be served with it shall be so kept as to guarantee that the same is served sweet and wholesome. If not cooked to order or served fresh from the fire, it must be cooled and kept under refrigeration.

(3) On all county fairgrounds and on picnic grounds, part of seating in or selling sandwiches, hamburger, fish, chicken, or meat of any kind must at all times keep their frying pans covered top and front and both sides with tin, iron, wood or glass so that said pans and the product thereof shall at all times be protected as nearly as possible from contamination.

(4) On all picnic grounds and on county fairgrounds all refreshment stands selling ice cream cones must keep the cones securely covered so as to protect them from dust, dirt and flies, and must take them from such containers and fill with ice cream only at the time of sale. This also applies to straws used for lemonade and soft drinks.

(5) All operators of refreshment stands on picnic grounds and fairs dealing in or selling ice cream sandwiches, frozen suckers, chocolate coated fruit, confections or other articles of like nature, must wrap the same in oil or wax paper or other protective covering unless sold direct from container to consumer. They must at all times protect the same from dirt, dust, flies and other possible contamination.

(6) Grounds around refreshment stands kept clean so as not to draw flies, other insects, and all garbage containers must be kept covered, and all garbage and other waste matter be disposed of or destroyed every day or oftener.

(7) All food ice boxes are to be inspected each morning. All meats slimy or moldy or otherwise unfit for human consumption must be destroyed.

(8) All places serving meals on fairgrounds must be thoroughly screened to protect foods from flies, dust and dirt. Screen doors must fit tightly and not be allowed to remain open at any time. Any holes or loose places in the screening must be immediately closed up when discovered. An adequate supply of fly spray must be kept on hand and used when necessary.

(9) The serving and handling of foods must be carried on in full compliance with section 2 of the Sanitary Law, particularly that paragraph which reads as follows: "...and for the purpose of this Act, unclean, unhealthful or insanitary conditions shall be deemed to exist if food in the process of production, preparation, manufacture, packing, storing, sale, distribution or transportation is not securely protected from flies, dust, dirt, and as far as may be necessary, by all reasonable means, from all other foreign or injurious contamination..."

Personal Property in Greene County Over Five Million

Carrollton, July 31.—The assessors books of the thirteen townships in Greene county have been completed, and turned in to the members of the board of review. Totals from the books show that personal property values in the county amount to the sum of $5,888,389.00. The townships report the following amounts: Athensville, $42,740.00; Bluffdale, $70,235.00; Carrollton, $461,675.00; Kane, $105,080.00; Linder, $55,540.00; Patterson, $146,905.00; Rockbridge, $185,535.00; Roodhouse, $273,070.00; Rubicon, $52,500.00; Walkerville, $53,605.00; White Hall, $401,894.00; Woodville, $50,325.00; Wrights, $56,580.00.

County Treasurer Jule F. Hubbard, went to Springfield Friday in an attempt to get an extension on the last payment of the taxes in Greene county, which are due August 1. The extension was fruitless. All the second installments which are not paid by that date will be advertised, about August 15, and on September 10, a tax sale will be held in which all delinquent property will be sold. Hubbard states that only about 53 per cent of the taxes in the county have been collected, but he expects the payment in the next two days will be heavy, especially so if the first installment of the cornhog money arrives during that time, as most of the farmers in the county are counting on using that money for the payment of taxes.

Fill Silos
Silo filling, which as a general rule starts between September 15 and October 1, is in progress in this vicinity for the past week, on account of the extreme drought. The corn in this vicinity is mostly so badly burned that there is no hope of it being saved by any rains that may come now, and in order to save as much of it as possible for feed, the farmers who are lucky enough to have silos are filling them rapidly, others who have no silo are digging pits in the ground for the corn, in an attempt to save some of the crop.

The water talked with over a hundred corn raisers of this and Jersey and Calhoun counties, on the prospect of corn this fall, and almost every one of them are very discouraged over the outlook. Estimates vary as to the damage done to corn, but most of the raisers say that the damage will be from 75 per cent to a total loss. The water situation is getting more serious each day and another obstacle has arisen to the farmers, and that is the condition of the soil for fall plowing as most of the ground around here is baked so hard it is impossible to break it with a pick.

The monthly community meeting of the Linder community was held on Thursday evening at the Linder town hall, with Oren Siebenmann, chairman, presiding. Attorney Clement Smith, of this city, gave a short talk. Other numbers of the staff at the play, entitled, "The Ghost Ranch," by a number of young men; music by Miss Eleanor and Robert Wayham, Hugh Thomas, Athlone and Carl Wayham and George Brown; solo by Richard Stone; recitations by Andrew and Frances Kullinline; duet by Misses Margaret and Barbara Kullinline and piano solos by Miss Barbara Kullinline and Mrs. John Kaff.

Discuss Farm Problems
The regular August meeting of the members of the executive board of the Greene County Farm Bureau, which is usually held on the first Friday in the month has been changed and will be held on July 31. The change has been made for several reasons, among them being the fact that the selection of a new farm adviser to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of R. H. Clapham, will be discussed and a solicitor and collector for Farm Bureau dues in the county will be appointed.

John Gillingham, Jr., who was operated on last week for appendicitis, is recovering very nicely, at the White Hall hospital.

Miss Eleanor McMahon, who was operated on July 11 at Our Saviour's hospital, Jacksonville, has recovered sufficiently to be able to be out.

Misses Carol and June Leick, of Macomb, who are visiting friends here, will go to a CCC camp near Grafton this week to meet their father, E. P. Leick, who will accompany them to Macomb.

The July-August issue of the "Farm Bureau Farmer," official organ of the Illinois Agricultural Association, carries a large photograph of the new offices of the Morgan County Farm Bureau. The Bureau has leased portions of three floors in the American Bankers building and has its main offices at the corner of North East and East Court streets.

In the basement is a large assembly room and a kitchen for the serving of about 100 people. On the second floor there is another assembly hall to accommodate 150 people, and another kitchen. The Morgan Farmers' Club has a large store room at the rear of the building.

Adjoining the main office is a spacious room for meetings of the Farm Bureau board of directors. The cork-hog department has its office in the main room with an entrance on East Court street.

The picture shows the office force at work and the managers and executives on duty. The Farm Bureau plant here is one of the most extensive and among the best organized in the state.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NOTES

Gilbert K. Chesterton. All is Grist. Mr. Chesterton needs no introduction to many readers who wait eagerly for whatever he writes, but he deserves to be more widely read by others who may have missed some of the keen incisive products of his pen. He always has something to say and he says it in a style both stimulating and interesting.

The "Grist" is really ground to this group of essays and the product is neither excessively heavy nor frivolously light, but filled with keen wit, challenge, fun, logic, and food for reflection.

The book is made up of a series of essays, nearly forty in number, on a wide variety of topics of such scope and appeal as to hold the attention of many types of readers. Such topics as: On the Prudence of Slang; On the Intellect of yesterday, the Behaviourist; Mr. Mencken and Fundamentalism; Rest Cures for nations; Fiction versus Philosophy; Logic and Lunacy; The Thrills of Boredom; Quacks in the Home; Gossip about heredity; The Renaissance; Living for Posterity; Optimism and Skepticism; Sophisticatedism, and Dress and Decorum.

The essays are short enough to furnish reading for those half-hours when one wants something to pick up and read for stimulation and entertainment.

Work of Restoring Telephone Service Almost Completed

The work of putting local telephone back in service following the storm of July 10 is almost completed, Illinois Telephone Co. officials said Tuesday. Only about 135 phones in the city remained out of service Tuesday morning. Toll lines are partially restored. The entire system will probably be working at close to 100 per cent by the end of the week.

Sixty men have been employed by the company since the storm. Engineers estimated it would require 35 days to get all phones back in service, but the job will probably be finished ten days ahead of schedule. The work has been pushed steadily and rapidly, in order to bring as little inconvenience as possible to telephone subscribers.

However, some of the work is temporary, and it will require some time to make permanent repairs. The main job has been to get the telephones working once more. There are still many hanging by cables, coils of wire hanging to poles and other odds and ends that must have attention.

BRITISH TEAM WINS DAVIS CUP

By Gale Talbot

Associated Press Sports Writer.
Wimbledon, Eng., July 31.—(AP)—Another gallant charge by the United States tennis forces for possession of the Davis Cup surged and died today on the unimpeachable defense thrown up by Great Britain's stalwart defenders, Frederick John Perry and Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin.

With the British leading two matches to one and needing only one more for victory, Francis Xavier Shields, the big ranking American star, started at Perry for four magnificent sets but was beaten back 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, 15-13.

The cup safely Britain's for another year. Austin then defeated Sidney R. Wood, Jr., 6-4, 6-0, 6-8, 6-3, to keep intact his record of victory against America in Davis Cup play since 1921.

The lone American triumph in the five match series was scored by Lester Stollen and George M. Lott, Jr., American doubles team, which won from the substitute British pair of Harold G. N. Lee and George Patrick Hughes yesterday, 7-5, 6-0, 4-6, 9-7.

Austin defeated Shields 6-4, 6-4, 6-1, and Perry won from Wood, 6-4, 4-6, 5-7, 6-0, 6-3, in the opening singles matches Saturday.

If there be a hero in a losing cause, it is Shields. The big broad shouldered New Yorker, conceded to have little chance against Perry and on the short end of 1-4 betting odds, played his heart out against a better equipped adversary.

Nervous and tense as always in the first set which Perry won with little trouble, Frank rose to the heights of his game to win the second and square the match, dropping the third on a stretch of erratic play, then came back to wage a gallant battle in the final marathon set.

The match went on in cup history as one of the most exhausting and exciting ever played. It ranks second to the 1914 encounter Maurice McLaughlin won from Norman Brooks 17-14 in number of games but hardly in excitement or point score.

At one stretch service was broken eight straight times.

The match ended with Shields falling headlong on the court as he dashed desperately into the net to smash a return just outside the baseline.

There was a poignant scene in the dressing room as Wood on the court outside was starting the final match against Austin.

"That must make Sidney feel rotten out there," Shields said, almost in tears, as he lay on a rubbing table. "Forget it, kid," Lott told him, slapping his bare shoulder. "You did the best you could and nobody can beat that."

The Wood-Austin match, an anti-climax after the Shields-Perry third set, started out with Shields plainly only going through the motions in the first set.

Then he learned that a close friend had bet $50 on the outcome and he tried to rally his resources and save it. Austin was playing too well for that, although Wood did take the third set 8-6, and went ahead to beat him four sets.

The victory was the seventh in the challenge round for Great Britain since Dwight W. Davis donated the cup and helped win it for the United States in 1900, and breaks a tie for second place in victories among France, Australia and Great Britain.

The United States leads the list with 10. Those four countries are the only ones which have held the cup.

PHILLIES WHIP
DODGERS 4 TO 2

Brooklyn, July 31.—(AP)—The Phillies strengthened their hold on sixth place in the National league today by defeating the Brooklyn Dodgers 4 to 2 with Curt Davis, young right-hander, hurling in his 15th victory of the season.

Tagged for two runs resulting from four successive hits in the first inning, Davis tightened and held the Dodgers scoreless throughout the remainder of the game. Dolph Camilli led the Phil's 14-hit attack off Leonard Clark and Carroll. His single with the bases filled drove over two runs in the fifth to put the Phillies ahead and he drove in the last tally with another single in the seventh.

Myers Brothers team dropped their first battle in the Y. M. C. A. hard ball league yesterday afternoon, losing to the Blesse's Specials by a score of 4 to 3. In the other league contest, the Conocos nosed out the Legion Juniors by a score of 4 to 3 on the Nichols Park diamond.

Mattson, doing the hurling for the Myers Brothers club was a little off on his control and forced in two runs, one in the third and one in the fifth frame, each time with the bases loaded, providing the Blesse's Specials with the winning run. However, he only gave up four hits, while Sporer, on the mound for the Specials, allowed five safe clouds.

Duffner, first-sacker for Myers Brothers, knocked a home run in fifth inning to put his team ahead by a score of 4 to 1. But the Specials scored a rally and added by two walks, man hit by a pitched ball and some timely hitting pushed over four runs to top the victory.

The Conocos and Legion Juniors game was marred by numerous errors. Fair did the hurling for the Juniors and allowed five safe blows while his mates could collect but three off the pitching of J. Rush, on the mound for the Conocos. The Juniors only scored the fourth inning, pushing over three runs for their only tally.

The Conocos chalked up three runs in the second inning and then sent the winning run across the plate in the fourth frame.

St. Louis, July 31.—(AP)—Sam Jones limited the Browns to eight hits and scattered hits today and the White Sox won 5 to 2 to even the series.

The first ten men to face the Chicago pitching veteran were retired. Then West singled to center, and successive singles by Pepper, Campbell and Hemsley resulted in the only long rallies.

Braves Defeat Giants 4 to 1
Boston, July 31.—(AP)—With Pinkey Whitney leading a home run and the New York Giants making a trio of inopportune errors, the Boston Braves today defeated the world champions, 4 to 1.

All of the Giants' mistakes figured in the Boston scoring. In the second game Manousso's high throw to second let Rupert Thompson scamper to third to get in a position to score on Shanty Hogan's grounder, which Hughie Critz juggled before tossing the Braves' catcher out.

TIGERS, INDIANS SPLIT TWIN BILL

Cleveland, O., July 31.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians lost the services of their first-string catcher, Glenn Myatt, today as they knocked the Detroit Tigers out of first place in the American League race by splitting a double-header, 9 to 7 and 4 to 2.

Myatt received a broken right ankle when his spikes caught as he slid into home plate in the third inning of the second game. He will be unable to play again this season, and his injury leaves the Indians with but one catcher, Frankie Pytkak. Manager Walter Johnson tonight was seeking a minor leaguer to fill Myatt's place.

A record week-day crowd of 25,000 cheering fans saw the Tribe pour three Tiger pitchers for 15 hits to win a save-saving first game. Vosmik hit a home run in the fifth. The Indians also used three pitchers.

The Indians had an early lead in the second game when Myatt's double scored Knickerbocker and Averil's single brought in Myatt in the third inning, but the Tigers came back to score three runs in the fourth on doubles by Fox and Dolack, singles by Regal and Goshin, a sacrifice and an Indian error. They added another in the fifth when Owen doubled and then was hit by Trosky's throw to third after Burnett threw out Hayworth. Owen was allowed to score on the error, although he was knocked out for a moment. Bridges held the Indians scoreless the remainder of the game.

YANKEES WALLOP
RED SOX TWICE

New York, July 31.—(AP)—The combination of fine pitching and timely hitting kept the New York Yankees back into first place in the American League today as they defeated the Boston Red Sox 11 to 2 and 4 to 1 in the first games of their current home stand.

With Lou Gehrig hitting his 31st and 32nd home runs of the season, the Yankees jumped on the offerings of Henry Johnson and Babe Waberg for eight runs in the first inning of the opening game and then breezed to victory behind the three-hit pitching of Lefty Gomez.

In turning in his 17th triumph of the season, Gomez pitched perfect ball for six innings, not a rival batsman getting to first. Bill Cissell connected with the first hit, a single, but was forced by Bill Werber. Roy Johnson then smashed out a home run to account for both of the Sox's runs.

The second game saw Johnny Murphy pitch shutout ball for seven innings and then weakened to allow the Sox to score a run. With two men on base, Jimmy DeShong was called to the rescue and he hurried time relief ball. The margin of victory was furnished by Babe Ruth, who connected with his 17th homer in the seventh inning.

Ed Coleman accounted for the first trio of tallies by hitting McColl for his tenth homer of the season with two on.

The Senators were further riddled when a sharp grounder from Pete Higgins beat in the seventh took a bad hop and glanced off the side of manager Joe Cronin's face, skinning his jaw and cheek and forcing his retirement.

Favorites Hold On During Day Of Extra Set Matches And Dampness Interruptions

Quarter-finals in the seventh annual Journal-Courier tennis championships will be run off today in both the city and district singles divisions of the tournament, and the stage will be set for the quarterfinal round of the doubles tournament with a final bit of thrills in the opening two rounds today.

Bending their way through extra matches and interruptions because of light showers, favorites continued to hold onto their places in the tournament. City singles players had little trouble in turning in their victories, but the champion and runner-up in last year's district tournament each had to go extra games to work their way into the quarterfinal round.

Today's schedule will open at one o'clock with what is expected will be one of the two outstanding doubles matches of the tournament, Jett Sunderland and his partner, Warren Pirle, will tangle with Elmer Lukeman and Jack Moriarty in a match that is expected to develop some of the best tennis displayed thus far.

Given a thorough testing yesterday by the Mader-Allyn team from Warren, the Lukeman combination held on and eliminated the Waberg-led in three set match, mixed with brilliant tennis and loose playing. Moriarty, who won the doubles tournament last year teamed with Ed Vorbeck, and Lukeman have not had their usual tested as set in tournament play, advancing to the quarterfinals on a double.

The other doubles match that is expected to show up some excellent tennis is slated for six o'clock in the evening when Dawson and Pearce, of Carrollton, take on Randolph and Mazer, of Jacksonville. The Carrollton team drew a first round bye.

Champ Meets Tough Ones
Elmer Lukeman, the defending champion, had his work cut out for him yesterday as opponents moved in to battle for the city crown. "Lucky" Bill Clark noted as having one of the hardest services of the junior players, based on a straight set victory over D. Randolph, 6-0, 7-5 to advance to the quarter-finals and a match with Lukeman for a place in the semi-finals. They will meet this afternoon at six o'clock.

Chuck DeWitt pulled a hard fought three set victory out of the fire after losing a love set to Robert Shier, but he came back to win the second set, 6-4, and will meet Walter Bradish who defeated Stanley Davis 6-0, 6-1, in another quarterfinal this afternoon at two o'clock.

Warren Breeding took two straight sets from L. Girdler to gain a match with Jack Moriarty, who has been played by many to meet Lukeman in the championship match. Breeding won 6-2, 6-2, and will play Moriarty at six o'clock this afternoon.

In the other match, slated for Tuesday, Philip Bradish forfeited to Bobby Haman. Haman will meet Eugene Hayes at two o'clock this afternoon in the first of the quarter finals.

Kesinger, Pearce Win
A new threat bobbed up in the district singles division, "Chick" Dawson, of Carrollton, defeating his room-mate at the University of Illinois, Dick Allyn, of Waverly 6-0, 6-4, to advance to the semi-final round ahead of the remainder of the field. Dawson, who is trying for a place on the University net squad, displayed a neat game in turning back Allyn, whom he had never before played.

Merrill Kesinger, White Hall, the defending district singles champion, and Al Pearce, Carrollton, runner-up last year, took their first steps toward repeating this year in matches yesterday, but they both had to go extra games. Kesinger found his opponent, Bradford Stewart, shooting back everything he could get across the net except the sharp single shots. Stewart took a little too powerful during the opening set and he lost 6-2, but he came back and won during the second set and he hit into extra games before Kesinger's angling brought him a 7-5 victory.

Ross Johnson, a mile of a player from White Hall, gave Pearce a serious scare in the opening set of their match. Pearce finally getting control of his strokes to win 7-5. Once in possession of his strokes, Pearce hammered away a quick conclusion of the match, losing only one game in the final set.

Jett Sunderland, Pearce's next opponent, advanced to the quarterfinals easily by defeating the Roadhouse pint of pepper, Carl Petrey 6-1, 6-1. Pearce and Sunderland meet at three o'clock this afternoon.

Ward Randall, another White Hall lad who won fame a few years ago as the national champion speller, yanked a three set match away from Dick Scott, Roadhouse. "Pro", as he has been dubbed as the result of his spelling crown, stormed through Scott 6-1 to take the first set, and then lost the second set 4-6. He felt his strokes better in the final set and won 6-4.

Randall will meet E. Mchl. Carrollton, another highly rated player, this afternoon. Mchl won in straight sets from Forrest Pirle, of Jerseyville, 6-4, 6-4.

Former Local Resident Writes of Swiss Village

Friends here have received an account of a visit made to a village in Switzerland by Mrs. Isabel Swain, former local resident and now residing in Detroit, Mich. Mrs. Swain was being accompanied by her daughter, Barbara and mother, Mrs. U. G. Woodman, of this city on a tour of Europe.

Mrs. Swain has written the following account of her visit to Trois Torrens:

A dream village, a veritable coin tucked securely away from the busy marts, innocent of the flaunting boards "American Bar," "English Tea Room," those inevitable signs which mark the well-worn path of the intrepid arm of tourists. Can such a spot still be found on this much-travelled continent? Yes, but be assured you must discover it for yourself. No unimaginative, withal well meaning tourist agent will direct your footsteps—or your railroad ticket—thither.

Such a village is Trois Torrens, in Canton Valais, high up in the Swiss Alps, the towering snow capped peaks of the Dents du Midi and the Dents Blanches rising majestically above it. The tiny hamlet clings to the sides of a lovely narrow, green valley, its scattered chalets clambering up to the very edge of the snow and the sky. It is a spot where tourists rarely come and more rarely linger.

The first and last English speaking person who visited here seems to have been a legendary English girl, wealthy and of religious leanings, who resided in Trois Torrens for several months some twenty-five years ago. Upon leaving, to die in the sacred precincts of the Eternal City, she presented all the village children with gilt-edged prayer books. The result was that no such green and pious mission, for M. has distributed toy autos, bright colored balls and bonbons among the little tots, in true pagan fashion.

The hotel—yes, there is one in the town—is an ancient hostel of stone flagged corridors, rough hewn floors, a Salon, brave with the red plush of Victorian days, and a tap room, favorite rendezvous of the village gentry. But our early misgivings were soon quieted by hospitality, snowy linen and mountain trout fresh from the roaring torrent whose distant murmur is always to be heard. Our room looks out over the Place, dominated by the steeped church which seems to fill every religious and social need of the people, and from our window we see the life of the village unfold in all its dignity. During Ascension week the Rogation Day ceremonies took place. Every morning at six o'clock the bells rang out over the valley and the procession passed slowly out of the village to wind along the mountain paths, stopping at the wayside shrines to say the mass and dedicate heaven for good weather for the summer's crops. The days of endless toil are not too arduous to prevent men, women and children from taking part in the processions—the young girls wearing white veils, boys bearing religious banners, acolytes, priests, Sisters, followed by men and women each carrying a rosary in his workman hand, chanting the service as he walks. And last, but not least, we recognize the jolly visage of the portly Chef de Poste, resplendent in the scarlet and gold uniform of the Swiss National Guard, that uniform worn today at the Vatican and in times past worn valiantly, if vainly, by the brave Swiss who, with their lives, defended Louis XVI. and his Marie Antoinette.

The tiny mountain paths leading up to the far way chalets are so steep that everything must be taken up on the backs of the peasants. They trudge by, carrying in the large baskets strapped to their backs, all the necessities of life—wood, grain, food supplies, even stone, in cruelly heavy loads. The little children of eight and nine bear their share of the household tasks, going by many times a day, their little backs bent under the heavy baskets loaded with huge round loaves of bread. Toward us, the people at first showed a shy, almost brusque reserve, but little by little in our long walks in the mountains we have made many a friend in the lonely chalets where we stop for a chat. The women are garbed in sombre, practical black, but as a last feminine protest, wear bright kerchiefs on their heads. Pausing for a moment to rest at the chalet door, a friendly smile, with simple, unaffected hospitality invites us into her kitchen. From the fire on the stone platform, the smoke curls up thru the huge chimney which forms the center of every chalet. At the clean white board we drink bowls of sweet milk, fresh from the water-cooled latters. Eagerly she boasts of the milk, the milk, that misty far off place where Monsieur M's Jean went some fourteen years ago. As we pursue the subject it develops that Jean lives in Guatemala and is engaged in the gentle art of chasing crocodiles. Need we mention again that America is a misty far off place?

Last Sunday after Mass, the men crowded around the door, and their heads were raised to the blessed bread for the animals. On Monday morning began the task of taking the cattle, sheep and goats to the high mountain pastures for the summer. On the lower meadows, now a wonderland of flowers, the cattle never graze, this grass being reserved for the haymaking which commences in June. The families separate, some going to the little summer chalets in the uplands, to tend the animals and make the cheese, the others remaining below to store up the precious hay. As early as three o'clock in the morning, for the Alpine sun is too hot for the beasts to travel at mid-day, we hear the many toned bells of the animals, and in the pale light of dawn we see the shepherd leading his herds over the hills of sheep and goats on their way to the summer pastures of sunshine and green pastures after the long winter night in the dark quarters of the chalets that are at once the homes of man and beast.

And summer drowsiness settles down on Trois Torrens. The children play ball in the place, the men with their pipes, the red kerchiefs on their heads, and the women with their inevitable knitting, chat before the village fountain, the late afternoon sun deepens the shadows, touches the snowy peaks with rose. The Angelus rings out over the quiet valley. But alas—with a shattering crash of klaxon and brakes a charabanc load of trippers roars down the road from the popular "Station d'Eté" up the valley, scatters the children and disappears behind the church in a cloud of dust. Mon Dieu! our paradise, after all, is not proof against the invasion of the ubiquitous Mr. Cook.

Incubate Second Hatching
This Year; Other News
From Jerseyville

Jerseyville, July 31.—Mourning doves are nesting again in this locality. The species in a number of instances are busy at the present time incubating their second hatching of eggs.

Sportsmen are wondering if the incubation period and rearing of young will be concluded by the time the open season on the birds begins the first of September.

At the William H. Corrine residence on Forest Avenue in the northern part of the City of Jerseyville a dove has built her nest on a limb of a tree that is in proximity to the front porch.

Lightning Causes
Virginia Home to Burn; Four Escape

Virginia, July 31.—Four people escaped from injury and possible death when the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Tribbawasser, one-half mile south of Virginia in Grand Villa, on state route 78, was struck by lightning tonight at 9:30 o'clock, and burned to the ground. One occupant of the house, J. W. Swift, an invalid, was carried to the first floor and removed from the burning building in a wheel-chair.

The four occupants of the house, Mrs. Tribbawasser, Mr. Swift, Mrs. Luella Moore and Miss Ina Davis, had retired when the bolt of lightning struck the center of the structure. Mrs. Moore stated that she was blinded momentarily by the flash and crash, and that a ball of fire was seen flying down the stairway immediately following the moment the lightning struck.

All were forced to flee from the building at once, but neighbors, brought from their homes by the crash, hurried in the burning structure and helped to carry out furniture from the first floor. While a great deal was saved, all the personal effects of the four occupants, including most of their clothing, was destroyed. The Virginia fire department responded quickly and although the house was located outside the city limits, made an effort to bring the blaze under control. They were hampered however, because the available hose was of insufficient length to reach the nearest hydrant at the edge of the city.

At 11:30 o'clock the building was in ruins, and the only part of the structure still standing was the tall brick chimney. A large crowd had gathered during the two hours the house burned, and remained, although there were intermittent showers.

The destroyed building was valued at about $2,000, and in addition, the loss of personal effects will run into many hundreds.

Lightning-Rain General
The storm which hit Virginia, and brought the electrical display, part of which struck the Tribbawasser home, was general throughout Central Illinois. For two hours a heavy rain fell on the drought-decked crops, to bring new hope to many farmers for improved production.

Heavy rain was reported as far north as Havana, and as far south as East St. Louis.
